and has taken 11 total AP courses. He has been recognized as a high-achieving student and has earned some of the following achievements: Junior Marshall, College Board National Recognition Program, High Honor Roll, and Georgia Certificate of Merit. In addition to his academic accolades, Andrew loves doing his part in the community. Currently, he is in three community service-based groups including the following: National Honor Society, BETA Club, and Jack and Jill of America. Andrew plans to attend Georgia Institute of Technology as a Computer Science Major with a minor in Technology and Business. Upon graduating, he intends to pursue a career at a tech firm as a software engineer. Andrew fell in love with the creative aspect of computer science when he attended a computer science camp at Georgia Tech in 2018. Since this camp, he has been working hard to ensure his acceptance into the school.

Hobbies

In his free time, you can find Andrew doing one of three things: gaming, traveling or, playing his instrument. As a computer science advocate, you can imagine how immersed Andrew is in anything technological - this includes gaming. He will spend many hours at a time mastering movement mechanics, fight strategies, or weapon accuracy on his favorite FPS games. Given his father's current employment at Delta, Andrew has the privilege of taking reduced-cost flights. This led to his constant travel both internationally and domestically. He has visited countries such as Mexico, France, and Jamaica, and he has a great degree of foreign culture and exchange experience. In addition, Andrew is a talented musician. He is a member of the Chamber Orchestra at WHS, which is the highest level of Orchestra available at his school. He plays both the violin and the viola and enjoys remaking pieces of his favorite musicians.
